Office Action Summary	Application No. 10/576,150	Applicant(s) BLAUT ET AL.
	Examiner Robert Rose	Art Unit 3723

-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

1. Receipt is acknowledged of Applicant's Prior Art Statements, filed April 13, 2006, and July 13, 2006, respectively. It is noted that the references in the IDS filed July 13, 2006 appear to be irrelevant to the claimed invention, and have not been considered.

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 1, line 2 the phrase "the partial cut" is without a proper antecedent basis. In claim 1, line 10 the phrase "the full cut" lacks an antecedent basis. In claim 2, line 3 "the reciprocating motion" is without antecedent support. In claim 3, line 2 "the partial cut" lacks an antecedent basis. In claim 4, line 2 "the full cut" lacks an antecedent basis. In claim 5, lines 2-3 "the partial cut" and "the full cut" lack antecedent support.

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Klink et al. The article "Honen von Zylinderbohrungen aus GGV" appears to show boring of cylinders with a first step of rough honing with an eccentrically disposed honing tool, and expansion of the tool as the eccentricity of the bore tends toward zero. Note figure

5, which shows the initial eccentric relationship of the bore and honing tool axes prior to expansion of the tool.

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Klink et al in view of Carmichael et al. Carmichael et al disclose the known use of coarse and fine honing elements disposed on a single tool for performing rough and fine honing in successive steps without the need for a second tool. To perform rough and fine honing in the method of Klink by the use of a single honing tool with separate rough and fine honing elements for use in succession, would have been obvious in view of Carmichael et al.

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Baksay is cited to show a prior art method of correcting for eccentricity of a bore by grinding.

9. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Robert Rose whose telephone number is (571) 272-4494. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday through Thursday, and on alternate Fridays from 8:00 to 5:30.
